“Building Your Success with Local Products, Partnerships and Planning”

Saturday, January 14, 2012
Lakeview High School
15060 Helmer Road South
Battle Creek, MI 49015

Join us for the 9th annual Michigan Family Farms Conference!

We invite you to the 9th annual Michigan Family Farms Conference on January 14, 2012 at Lakeview High School in Battle Creek, MI.

This year's conference, "Building Your Success with Local Products, Partnerships and Planning", will address issues facing small family farms and limited resource farmers, as well as opportunities.

Lunch, which will take place from noon to 1:35 p.m., will feature local food and allow plenty of time for networking with other farmers and resource professionals and visiting the exhibits and displays.

Keynote Speaker: 1:35 - 2:30 p.m.

Dan Carmody, Eastern Market Corporation President

Dan Carmody was hired in November, 2007 as the President of Detroit's Eastern Market Corporation (EMC) where he has been charged with operating the region's premier public market, renovating and enhancing the market campus, and revitalizing the business district around the market. EMC also is a partner organization in re-building southeast Michigan's local food system and regenerating the historic core of Detroit. It is one of the oldest public markets in the country and has been feeding Detroit families since 1891.

Youth Track:

Because this is the Michigan Family Farms Conference, we have a Youth Track that will feature discussions and activities for children up to age 16, including presentations on careers in agriculture and natural resources and a field trip to Binder Park Zoo.

Sponsors and Partners:

College of Agriculture
and Natural Resources

C.S. Mott Chair of Sustainable Agriculture

Morgan Composting

Session I

9:00 - 10:20 a.m.

Social Media Marketing and Your Farm

Mindy Maxwell Pratt, Maxwell Pumpkin Farm

Are you using Youtube, Twitter, Facebook or Blogs to promote your farms? Find out how easy and effective it is and the low cost of promoting your product or farm.

Careers in Agriculture and Natural Resources

Eunice Foster, Cheryl Danley, Leonard Savalia, Deepa Iyer, Shakara Tyler and Stephanie Chau, Michigan State University

Jim Marshall, USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS)

Agriculture and natural resources (ANR) offer outstanding careers in the various ANR industries – business, science, education, communications, and many other areas on and off the farm. Regardless of your age or farming experience, come explore rewarding careers in ANR. It truly is more than you imagined.

Farm Planning

Jeff Douglas, USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS)

You have the land, now what do you do? How do you start? Who is available to help you? This session will help you answer those questions and be on your way to planning a successful farming operation.

Constructive Credit

Gary Matteson, Farm Credit Council

Debbie Teller, Greenstone Farm Credit Services

Understand how your lender thinks about your farm business by taking some of the mystery out of how credit decisions are made. Prepare yourself to be a successful borrower by knowing how and why lenders evaluate farm loan risk.

Cheese Making

Anne Cavanagh and Family, KalCarbon Farms and Mattawan Artisan Creamery

Want to know what it takes to make cheese? Get a farmer's perspective of the process, production, and how to do it.

Growing Seedlings and Transplants

John Biernbaum, MSU Department of Horticulture, MSU Student Organic Farm

Learn how to successfully plant and grow seedlings and transplants indoors, in a greenhouse, or in a hoophouse to sell or to sow in your own field and get ahead on the growing season.

Session II

10:40 a.m. - 12 p.m.

A Micro Loan Program for Your Farm

Rick Larson and Ginny Trocchio, The Conservation Fund

Learn about the Conservation Fund loans for up to $50,000 for sustainable Agriculture businesses as well as a loan program for multicultural farmers in Michigan.

Conservation Easements

Alex Bozymowski, USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS)

Do you know what they are? What are the tax advantages? Alex can give you the perspective of a farmer that has conservation easement and is also a person who can help you administer the program on your farm.

Pesticide Certification and Worker Protection Standards

Antonio Castro-Escobar, Michigan Dept. of Agriculture and Rural Development

Get yourself up to date on the latest changes to pesticide certification and worker protection standards. (Recertification Credits may apply).

How to Market Your Products

Dru Montri, Michigan Farmers Market Association

Tom Kalchik, MSU Product Center for Agriculture and Natural Resources

Janice Benson, Michigan Land Use Institute

There are many ways to tap into the “local” movement with your farm products at farm stands, farmers markets, and more. Get some tips and ideas on these potential markets for your farm and community.

Free Range Poultry

John Harnois, Harnois Happy Hens Farm

Thinking about adding chickens to your farm for eggs or meat? Learn the basics of raising free range poultry on a small-scale farm from this Ann Arbor farmer.

Bee Keeping

Tim Bennett, Turtlebee & Honeytree Farms, Inc

Bees are in high demand for both their honey-producing ability and their pollination services in fruit and vegetable production. Learn how to keep up a hive of your own in this session.

Session III

3:00 - 4:20 p.m.

Business Structures and Changes in Estate Tax Laws

Mike Fraleigh, Fraleigh Law Firm

Sole Proprietor, LLC, S Corp, etc. – Determining which business structure is best for each farmer's needs is important to the success of the business. Learn about the significant impacts of new laws on the estate planning process.

Wildlife Habitat

Mark Longstroth, MSU Extension

Jeff Douglas, USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS)

Wildlife are important for conservation programs but can be a pest when it comes to food safety. Find out how to manage the conflict to comply with both programs.

Cottage Food Law

Byron Beerbower, Michigan Dept. of Agriculture and Rural Development

Do you know what the Cottage Food Law is and what products and preparation it covers? This session will let you know what you can produce, how, and what guidelines and regulations there are to ensure your operation is in compliance.

How the 2012 Farm Bill Will Affect You

David Schweikhardt, Michigan State University

Jacqlyn Schneider, Senate Agriculture Committee

Find out what is the latest regarding the 2012 Farm Bill and how it will affect your farm operation. Make sure that your voice is heard with Senator Stabenow's Office.
